Joined the library. Got Care of the Skin, Origin of the Species, and a book by a woman my mother is always going on about. It is called Pride and Prejudice, by a woman called Jane Austen. I could tell the librarian was impressed. Perhaps she is an intellectual like me. She didn't look at my spot, so perhaps it is getting smaller.

None of the teachers at school have noticed that I am an intellectual. They will be sorry when I am famous. There is a new girl in our class. She sits next to me in Geography Geography.
Time flies like an arrow but fruit flies like a banana.
She is all right. Her name is Pandora, but she likes being called "Box".
Don't ask me why. I might fall in love with her. It's time I fell in love, after all I am 13 3/4 years old.
